Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC does not use a performance-based fee structure because of the conflict of interest. Performance based compensation may create an incentive for the adviser to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the Client.

Item 7: Types of Clients

Description

Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC generally provides investment advice to individuals. Client relationships vary in scope and length of service.

Account Minimums

Account minimums are determined by the TPMs Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC refers its' Clients to.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

Security analysis methods may include fundamental analysis, technical analysis, and cyclical analysis. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that Clients should be prepared to bear. Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns.

Fundamental analysis involves evaluating a stock using real data such as company revenues, earnings, return on equity, and profits margins to determine underlying value and potential growth. Technical analysis involves evaluating securities based on past prices and volume. Cyclical analysis involves analyzing the cycles of the market.

TPMs utilized by Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC may use various methods of analysis to determine the proper strategy for the Client referred and these will be disclosed in the TPM's Form ADV Part 2. Investing in securities involves risk of loss that Clients should be prepared to bear. Past performance is not a guarantee of future returns.

The main sources of information used by TPMs may include financial newspapers and magazines, research materials prepared by others, corporate rating services, annual reports, prospectuses, and filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Investment Strategy

The investment strategy for a specific Client is based upon the objectives stated by the Client during consultations. The Client may change these objectives at any time. Each Client executes an Investment Policy Statement, Risk Tolerance or similar form that documents their objectives and their desired investment strategy.

Each Client completes the TPM's paperwork that documents their objectives, assets and desired investment strategy. The investment strategy for a specific Client is based upon the objectives stated by the Client during consultations. The Client may change these objectives at any time.

Security Specific Material Risks

All investment programs have certain risks that are borne by the investor.

Fundamental analysis may involve interest rate risk, market risk, business risk, and financial risk. Risks involved in technical analysis are inflation risk, reinvestment risk, and market risk. Cyclical analysis involves inflation risk, market risk, and currency risk.

Our investment approach constantly keeps the risk of loss in mind. Investors face the following investment risks and should discuss these risks with Journey:

- Interest-rate Risk: Fluctuations in interest rates may cause investment prices to fluctuate. For example, when interest rates rise, yields on existing bonds become less attractive, causing their market values to decline.
- Market Risk: The price of a security, bond, or mutual fund may drop in reaction to tangible and intangible events and conditions. This type of risk is caused by external factors independent of a security's particular underlying circumstances. For example, political, economic and social conditions may trigger market events.
- Inflation Risk: When any type of inflation is present, a dollar today will buy more than a dollar next year, because purchasing power is eroding at the rate of inflation.

- Currency Risk: Overseas investments are subject to fluctuations in the value of the dollar against the currency of the investment's originating country. This is also referred to as exchange rate risk.
- Reinvestment Risk: This is the risk that future proceeds from investments may have to be reinvested at a potentially lower rate of return (i.e. interest rate). This primarily relates to fixed income securities.
- Business Risk: These risks are associated with a particular industry or a particular company within an industry. For example, oil-drilling companies depend on finding oil and then refining it, a lengthy process, before they can generate a profit. They carry a higher risk of profitability than an electric company which generates its income from a steady stream of customers who buy electricity no matter what the economic environment is like.
- Liquidity Risk: Liquidity is the ability to readily convert an investment into cash. Generally, assets are more liquid if many traders are interested in a standardized product. For example, Treasury Bills are highly liquid, while real estate properties are not.
- Financial Risk: Excessive borrowing to finance a business' operations increases the risk of profitability, because the company must meet the terms of its obligations in good times and bad. During periods of financial stress, the inability to meet loan obligations may result in bankruptcy and/or a declining market value.

The risks associated with utilizing TPMs include:

- Manager Risk
 - TPM fails to execute the stated investment strategy
- Business Risk
 - TPM has financial or regulatory problems
- The specific risks associated with the portfolios of the TPM's which is disclosed in the TPM's Form ADV Part 2.

David Donhoff is an insurance agent and investment advisor representative with No Bull Financial, LLC dba Leverage Planners Insurance Services. Mr. Donhoff spends approximately 80% of his time in this capacity. From time to time, he will offer Clients products and/or services from these activities.

Clients have the option to purchase these products or services through another insurance agent or investment advisor of their choosing.

Recommendations or Selections of Other Investment Advisors and Conflicts of Interest

Item 14: Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Economic Benefits Provided to the Advisory Firm from External Sources and Conflicts of Interest

Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC receives a portion of the annual management fees collected by the TPMs to whom Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC refers Clients.

This situation creates a conflict of interest because Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC and/or its Investment Advisor Representative have an incentive to decide what TPMs to use because of the higher solicitor fees to be received by Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC. However, when referring Clients to a TPM, the Client's best interest will be the main determining factor of Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC.

Advisory Firm Payments for Client Referrals

Leverage Planners Wealth Management, LLC does not compensate for Client referrals.
